

JPI TECHNICAL CORNER

Know the Facts: ExamVue Acquisition Software

We hear other imaging solutions have image quality issues. Why is JPI any different? Here is what separates us from other vendors.

For starters, it is not the panel it is the imaging software. The panel is just a receptor. No matter how good the raw image is, the imaging processing engine translates X-ray data and outputs high-quality images.

JPI is a grid company with nearly forty years of imaging experience. Our priority is achieving the best image quality and we have decades of experience optimizing image quality.

JPI developed smart technology algorithms to read X-ray information from the panel. ExamVue reads the information and creates a precise grayscale, without calibrating the panel, for the best image quality. This also helps reduce the dose.

The ExamVue imaging processing has been a collaborative project, with over 100 medical and veterinary experts supplying their feedback in just the last year. As a result of valuable feedback, JPI has provided the best solution for different segments of both the medical and veterinary markets. ExamVue continues to evolve to higher levels.

We believe no other competing products come close to the quality we have achieved with our digital solutions, which combine ExamVue software and our flat-panel hardware.

As a result of our extensive research, programming, and positive feedback, JPI has been able to penetrate virtually every market segment—hospitals, imaging centers, private practice, chiropractic, orthopedics, podiatry, pediatrics, mobile clinics, and veterinary.

STRATEGIC PLANNING

JPI's success is based on product management and placement in today's market. JPI's roadmap is built on market trends and customer feedback from all segments.

BIG PROFIT

JPI's selective product line gives today's dealer a competitive edge to make a profit and keep a higher margin than other competitive product or any other distributor can offer.

SUBSTANTIAL GROWTH

JPI is here to continue to support and grow with your business. Your success is our success. JPI's marketing, product management, customer service, and technical support teams are the foundation for your successful future.

To learn more about JPI's imaging solutions, contact us today.

(516) 513-1330 ext. 3 | sales@jpihealthcare.com | www.jpihealthcare.com

